At the egislative session of 1886 87 this act was strengthener; somewhat by amendment, and provision made for the appropriation of funds necessary to earry on the work of the state forest commissioner,

Theoretically, the law has much to commend it, practical y, it is inoperative, to a degree, for the reason that the great body of forest and in this state is still owned and controlled by the general government, and the state authorities have an jurisdiction thereof. Consequently, protective measures on the part of the state forest ofcers, have been mainly confined to efforts in aid of the federal official. This is true at least u so far as it relates to deprecations. In the matter of the prevention or suppression of forest ires, the local officers have 'est at liberty to take such action in any narticular case as might seem necessary. without having special regard to cuestions of jurisciction.

Suddenly turning to young Boker ne saic: "I think you have expressed the true sentiment concerning this subject in that admirable sonnet of yours." He then recited the lines referred to to the party much to Boker's surprise, who sat listening to the splendid percelight:

During the civi. war he was au inde atigable worker in the Union causebeing one of the organizers of the Union League cub, of Paiadelphia for the purpose of standing by the government Besides this he devoted his pen to the service of the Union. When Grant became president ae made Mr. Boker minister to Turkey. Le soon snowed great talent for the work before him, and eft Turkey with the approval of the United States government and the good will of the sultan. From this mission he was promoted to St. Petersburg. While minister to Russia-the Virginius affair occurred. A wanton outrage on a United States ship had been perpetrated by. the officers of a Spanish vessel. Presidental Grant was very much opposed to going to war with Spain, but the case demanded either war or an apology from the Spanish government

From Washington instructions were sent to United States ministers abroad to endeavor to gain the influence of foreign governments to the cause of the United States. All the efforts of those was followed these instructions faired; except in Mr. Boker's case. The work required great delicacy, and the Spanish minister at St. Petersburg sought to thwart the Americans efforts. | However, he succeeded in inducing Prince Cortscaakbil to send instructions to the Russian minister at Kacric taking groups in favor of the Unities States. This settled the question, Spain apologized for the Virginius affair and war was averted.

Mr. Boker was doubtless aided by the friend, y relations between Russia and America, which sprang from Russia's pronounced nec aration in favor of the Julea in sending a feet of war vesses to New York curing tae civi. war. In the latter part of May, 1889, there came o The Antiers note, two men, one evicerty an Englishman and the other a Canacian. The Englishman registered as Mr. ... S. Birch, of London, Eng., and the other as i. F. Kirby, Pueblo. Tais Mr. Zirby, or Colone' Airby, as his. companion called him, was apparently between 50 and 60 years of age, tall and powerfully built, with white mustaches and the peculiar pinkish rec. complexion cenoting high living. The colone, had a deen bass voice and was extremely foud. o' bearing himse tak. Eis companion, Mr. Birch, or "Lord" Birch, was a medium-sized man, sight black mus tache, an extreme "bow" in his ers. and hair parted in the middle. Nothing that Yr. Birch might do could ever conceal the fact that his nativity was not far from the "Strand."

immediately upon arrival the party secured the best rooms in the house, and they entered upon a course of living that soon procured for them a reputation in the lown. Hot scotch and champagne fowed like water whenever the colone. and milord appeared, and the anglomaniacs and tuit hunters reveled in good "booze" and the society of distinguished foreigners. Rides, drives and little suppers prevailed for many cays, but on the isth of luly they took their departure, Mr. Birch appounding his return to England and Colone, Kirby to Denver. Their expenses and been enormous and note' proprietors and various business men had begun to grow a little nervous. but before departure Mr. Birch received a draft for several thousand dollars and
